Robert W Stewart

This [redacted] is a wonderful occasion for you, you have the whole future to look forward to... There's a lot I could never put into words, but I think you know how I feel about you and all concerned... Stewart, you're really lucky to have such fine parents and two wonderful sisters, who all love you very much; but no one could possibly be more deserving. You're going to go straight up to the top and have a wonderful and happy life, that's for sure; And I hope I can be [redacted] a small part of it. As far as I'm concerned there's no one else in the world who knows or understands me anymore than you do. I could never have found a finer person... No matter what you do, you will do it well. Your Life At Broughton shows that. You've done alot for both Broughton and myself, And you'll always be remembered in a very special way. Stewart, you've done more for me than I can ever say... And I'd like to say - thanks - when you go to Duke next year please don't forget me because I'll never forget you and all [redacted] the good times I've had with you. These last two months have been the happest days of my life and I hope I have made you as happy as I have been. I'll never forget all the wonderful, wonderful times I've had with you these last two years, all the dates, parties, beach trips, And going swimming; I could go on forever. The tower holds a very special place in my heart because we used to climb it together. Stewart, you're just wonderful and you know how much I think of you. You've received many, many great honors this year, all of which you greatly deserve. I don't know what the future holds for us, but that's up to you... I want to wish you the greatest happiness and success the world has to offer; you really deserve it! You'll always play a very special part in my life And always remember that - I love you - God Bless the one I love more than any one else in the world...

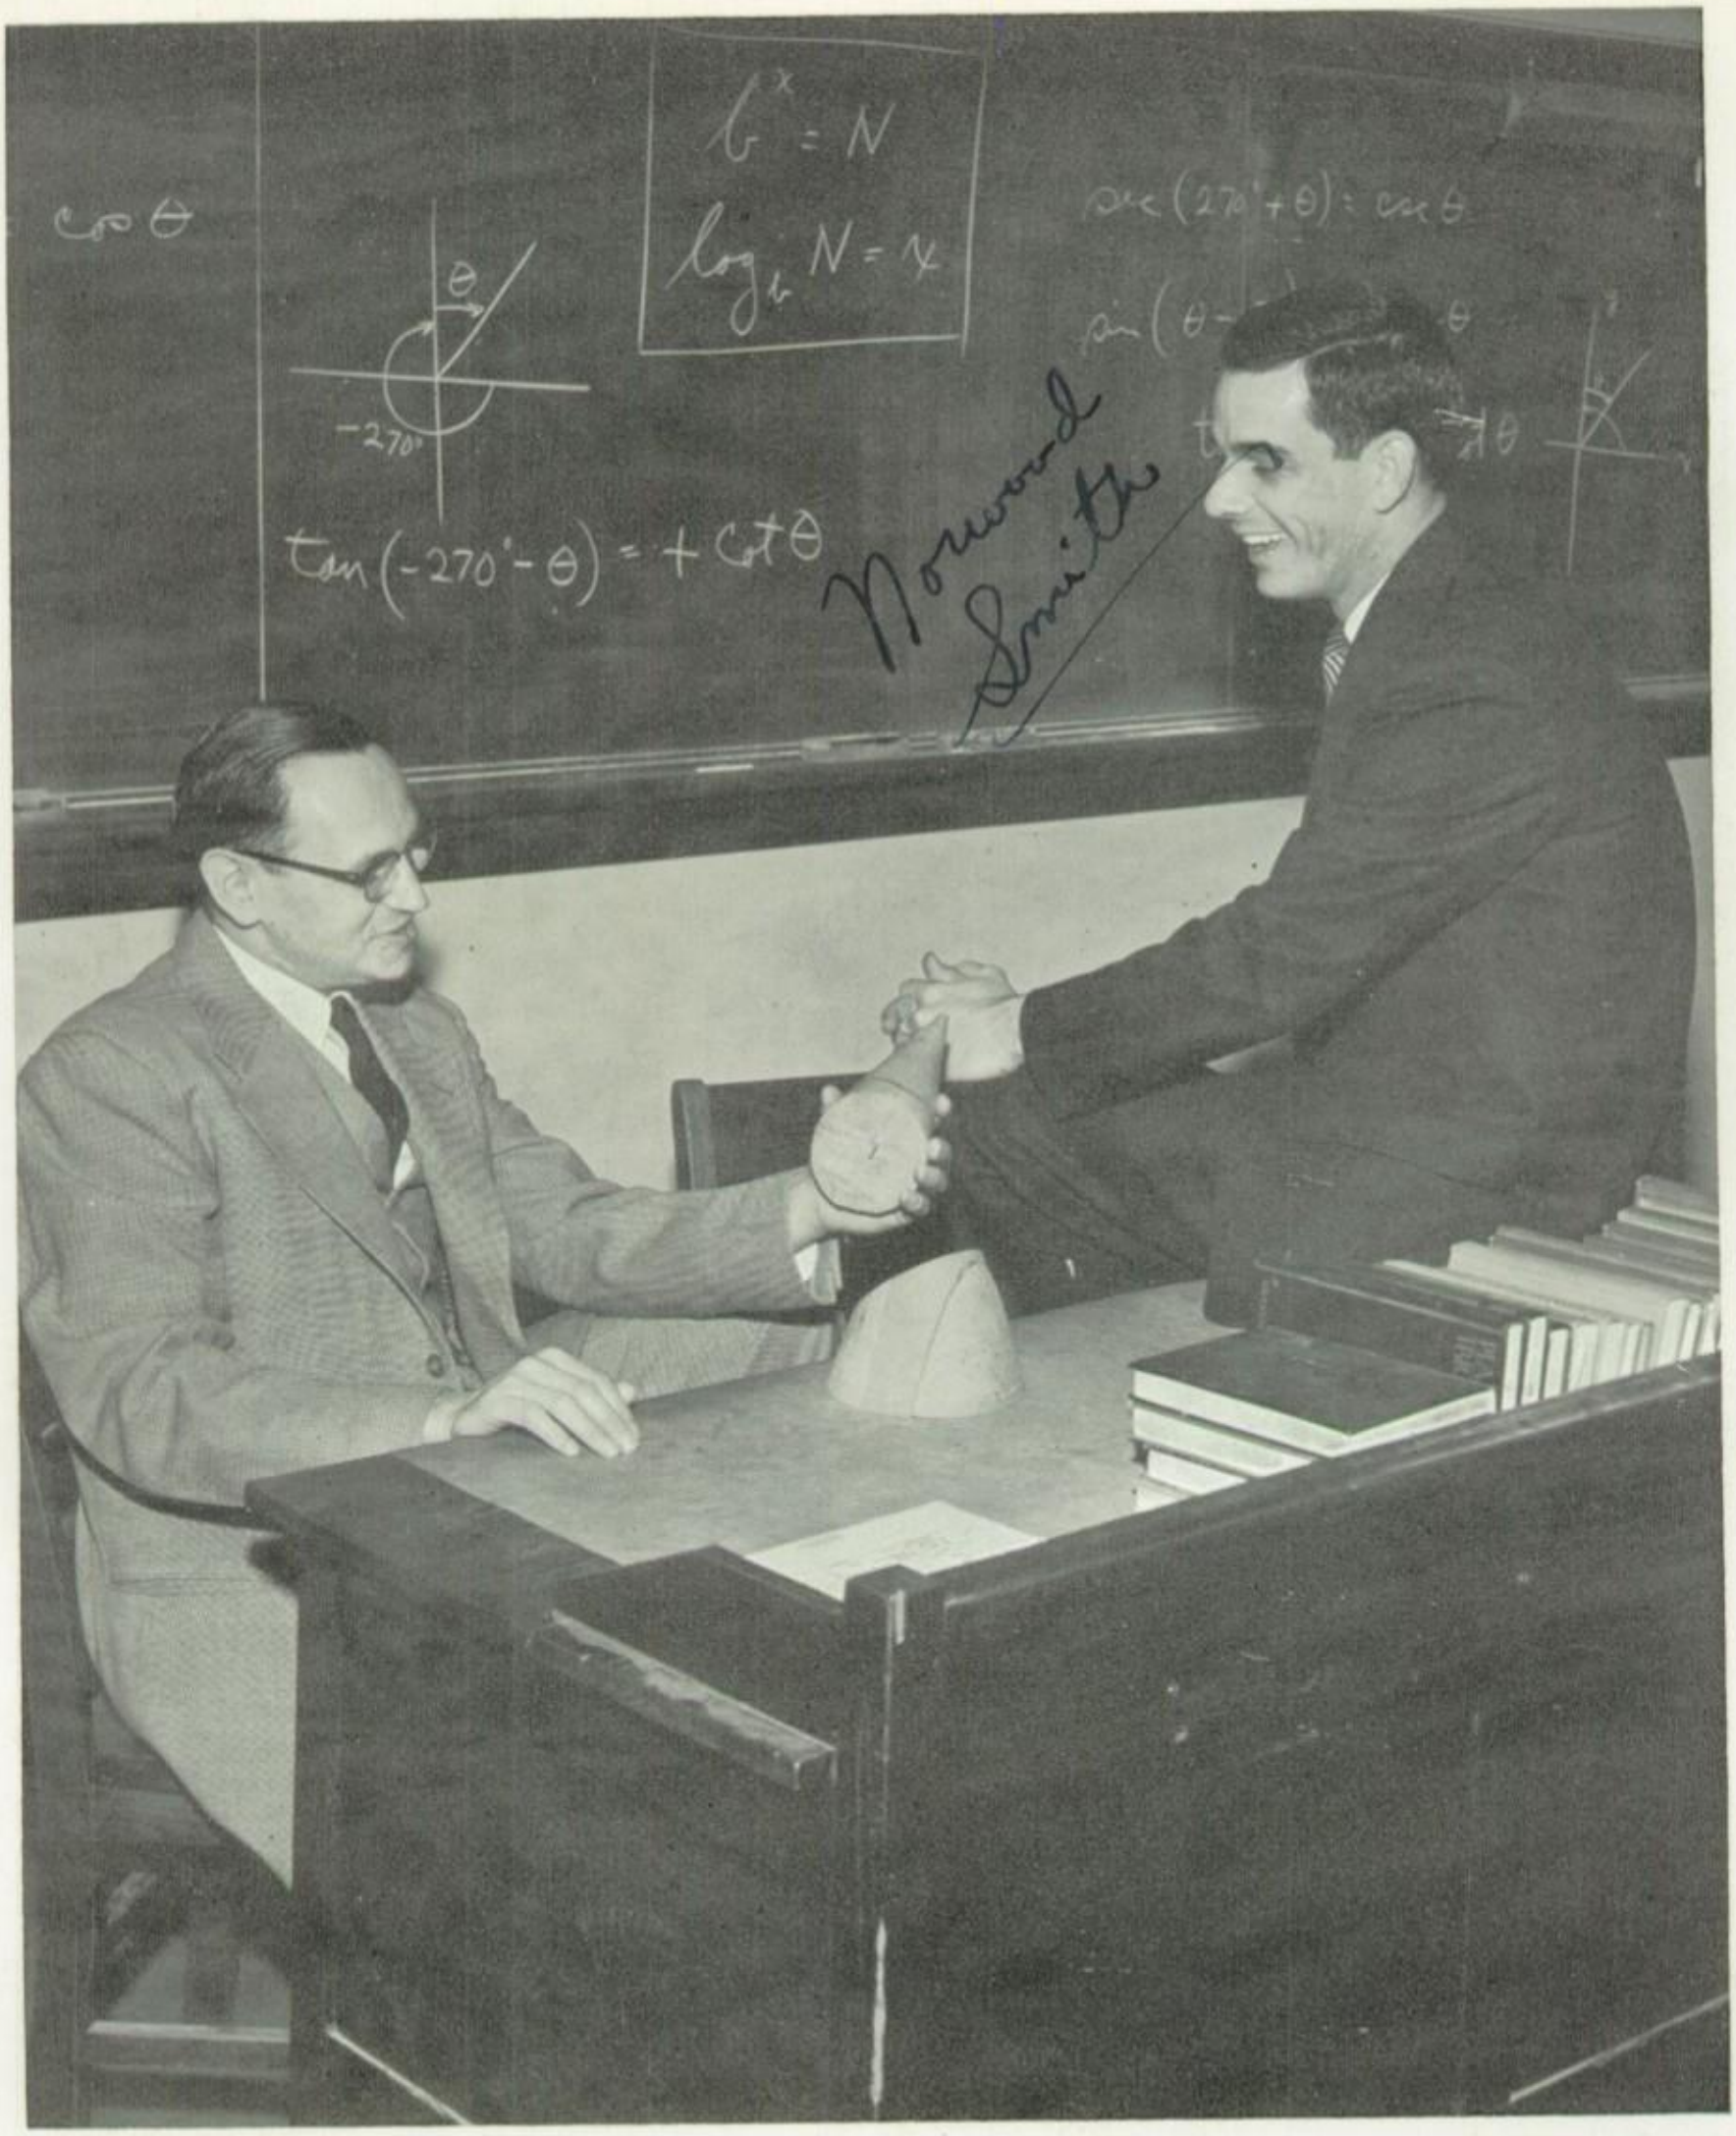
TO OUR PARENTS

In 25 years many hundreds of students pass through the doors of a high school. For some, honors, scholarships, and awards, in addition to graduation, mean that preliminary goals have been reached; for others, graduation has been a singular honor or recognition. The latter group has gladdened just as many hearts as the former; graduation is no insignificant achievement, whether additional honor be present or absent. We, the 25th graduating class, wish to recognize those partly responsible for this achievement, thus, to the parents of the students that have made our silver years, we pay tribute. The parents: our encouragement, our inspiration.



Mr. Maltbie and Mr. Smith

DEDICATION

We, the Senior Class of 1955, do affectionately and appreciatively dedicate this record of our high school memories to Norwood Smith and Armstrong Maltbie.

We have found in them an inspiring example of guidance, understanding, and service. Their unfailing co-operation has enabled us to recognize the best in our teachers and fellow-students.

Of both Mr. Smith and Mr. Maltbie we can say they have lived in the spirit of the following lines:

"Four things a man must learn to do
If he would keep his record true:
To think, without confusion, clearly;
To love his fellow-man sincerely;
To act from honest motives purely;
To trust in God and Heaven securely."

SENIOR CLASS

We, the members of the class of '55, consider this twenty-fifth year of Broughton the most rewarding of our high school career. With Mr. Norwood Smith, our class adviser, and Bobby Shoffner, president; Arthur Dozier, vice-president; Ann Sloan, secretary; Mary Lynn Moody, treasurer; and John Cella, sergeant-at-arms paving the way, we undertook more projects than ever before.

The Senior Play, "January Thaw," the Queen of Hearts program, the twenty-fifth anniversary program, the adoption of Eighth Grade Brothers and Sisters are only a few of the activities in which our class was involved.

We can not easily forget that growing comes through other's help . . . trust . . . faith. We will always be indebteded to you, our friends, our teachers, and our helpers. We, the class of '55 owe every one of you our thanks.

Our Junior Class began its year with the election of class officers. Ralph Cummings was elected President; H. T. Eubanks, Vice-President; Lucia Jones, Secretary; Carol Crumpler, Treasurer; and Harry Broome, Sergeant-at-Arms.

The selling of drinks at school functions and magazine subscriptions, the class projects, prepared the way for the long awaited Junior-Senior Prom. This big event was held on April 22.

Also as a class project, the Junior Class donated many shrubs which were put around the back parking lot.

Representing the Junior Class as marshals were Helen Arendell, Ralph Cummings, Mary Ruth Starling, and Jimmy Kennedy.

Miss Nan Wilkinson was our class adviser.

Stewart,

There are two kinds of people concerned with art: those who watch & those who practice. Being the former myself, I am filled with great awe and respect by you. But there's more to it than that. You're a great guy, Stewart, one of the finest considering all your honors. I'm amazed at anyone so unconceited, so selfless, so - shall we say - brave. It takes guts to be sensitive in this world. I hope you always get the best; I know you can accomplish anything you want.

always a friend,

D. Fay

In the year 1929, the Needham Broughton Student Co-operative Association was organized with a Student Council to assume leadership. On December 8, 1950, the constitution was ratified with several minor changes. The constituents of the present council with voting power are: (1) Officers: President, Vice-President, Secretary, Sergeant-at-Arms, and the Treasurer, appointed by the adviser of the central banking system; (2) a representative elected from each homeroom; (3) the chairmen of the standing committees who are presidential appointees. During the meetings of this group, which are held when necessary, opinions and suggestions from the various homeroom members are expressed to the council.

This year's council undertook and completed a number of projects which were of service to the entire student body and faculty. Among the more important of these were the lunch time program, which had been needed, the annual student-faculty basketball game, a celebration of Broughton's 25th anniversary, the rewiring of the cage backstage, the purchase of a picture of the school, and the revision of the social standards. The council also sponsored the elections, the assembly programs, and the chartering of buses for athletic events. All of these were paid for or supervised by the Council. Without the Student Council, Broughton could not maintain its high standard of today. It brings us many of the pleasures and conveniences which we the students enjoy and need and helps us to accept and use the responsibilities of citizens in a democratic community.

National Honor Society

Scholarship, Character, Leadership, Service—these are the four main principles of the National Honor Society and the four basic characteristics which a person must possess to be eligible for membership. Therefore, a student must maintain an average of 90, uphold high standards, exhibit leadership, and render service to the school.

To carry out the Honor Society's principles, the members work in the mornings as office assistants. Another project which has been undertaken is the sponsorship of morning and lunch study halls.

Dear,

I told you one time that I thought you were the outstanding member of the Hi-Y and I meant it. But even beyond that I feel that you have as great a potential as any boy in our class.

Service Club

Everyone has recognized your art writing and dramatic talents — and I have too. I recognize, too, how well you have applied that talent unselfishly for anyone who needs your help. But even beyond that you are an outstanding personality with a knack for winning friends. Don't let me down — I am looking forward to watching you grow in many ways. None of us are too good to improve.

In order to give recognition to those students who have rendered outstanding service to the school, beyond the call of duty, and who have not been recognized, the Student Council organized the Service Club. The privilege of nominating someone is extended to all students and teachers. A meeting is held to discuss each candidate and vote on them. A unanimous vote must be received by a candidate in order for him to be admitted to the club.

In the fall, one induction is held for seniors only, and in the spring, one induction is held for juniors, seniors, and two teachers. The membership never exceeds 32. The names of the new members are revealed in a very impressive assembly program attended by the student body and parents of the new members. After each name is revealed on a large card, the student goes to the stage and a summary of his service to the school is read.

Spring Members: Jenky Jenkins, Leonard Graham, Monty Hicks, Ralph Cummings, Jack Pindell, Tommy Overman, Joanne Hudson, Eddie Collins, Donna Irving, and Benny Rideout, Ann Sloan, Carolyn Harris, Anne Denmark, Sally Ruark, Gary Dozier, Bobby Shoffner, Donald Fry, and Nicki Stamey. Miss Laura Helen Paschall and Norwood Smith were the two faculty members taken in.

Thanks for all your help and friendship —

your pal always,

Sink

P.S. The folks wouldn't have been the same without you.

Editor-in-Chief Kay Zeigler and Business Manager Bob Cromley were elected from the core-journalism class by the seniors to head the 1954-1955 LATIPAC. A supporting staff was later appointed: Nancy Jones, Senior editor; Sharon Ridgeway and Bobby Austin, Junior editors; Mary Lou Macon and Martha Teal, Sophomore editors; Joyce Little and Ginger Hester, Freshman editors; Mary Sue Herring, Jean Leach and Judy Levi, Sub-Freshman editors. Ada Wright worked with the Faculty Section, Betty Sue Caviness with the Features, and Rita Burke with Organization section.

Katherine Renfrew with the help of many senior journalism students thought up characteristics and nicknames to go under the Senior Captions. Jane Wayburn and Mary Lynn Moody did much research in tracing back over the five wonderful years at Broughton to write the Senior Story.

Giving it that up to date look, Carolyn Harris drew some modern cartoons. Bob Dempsey and Margie Linzey spent many merry hours collecting the jokes which appear under the advertisements. Margie Parks, Harold Tharrington, Ben Eaton, and Nicki Nichols give a complete account of the many sport events.

Individual senior pictures were taken by the Waller Studio and the underclass pictures by Delmar Studios of Charlotte. Burnie Batchelor took most of the group pictures. Jimmy Kirkland also added to the pictures with his camera.

In their December class meeting the Senior Class dedicated the 1955 LATIPAC to Mr. Norwood Smith and Mr. Armstrong Maltbie. They also voted to add an additional page to recognize their Parents. Lota Lee Brian in deep thought wrote the dedication and Margaret Paris the recognition.

The journalism class voted to have the LATIPAC green trimmed in silver in fitting with the Silver Anniversary. Under John Blackwell, advertising manager, each senior taking journalism solicited the Raleigh merchants for ads.

Most of the annual went to press before the New York Journalism trip. The rest went in the latter part of March. Many thanks are due the typing classes and Miss Paschal, our adviser.

As you look over your 1955 LATIPAC again and again, we hope you can say it is one you will never forget.

Hi-Times Staff

Bobby Austin, Ginger Hester, and Ada Wright.

The eight issues of the Hi-Times for 1954-55 were published by the combined efforts of the journalism classes with Laura Helen Paschal as adviser. Members of the staff included Ginger Hester, editor; Ada Wright, business manager; and Bobby Austin, advertising manager.

The core journalism class, which met everyday, prepared the paper with the help of the four interest classes, which met three times a week. The second year typing class typed the articles, and the paper was then sent to press at Edwards and Broughton.

The first issue of the Hi-Times, which was published in October, commemorated the beginning of Broughton, the man for whom the school was named. The names of the graduates from the classes of 1930 through 1955 were listed. Featured also were the silver anniversary week activities, which included a pageant, dance, and alumni day.

In May the final issue of the Hi-Times was published by the seniors, and the work for the year was completed. It was the hope of the staff that the Hi-Times had served its purpose of relating everyday activities at Broughton and recording for the future a complete and accurate account of past events.

Dear Steward,
It has been great knowing you. It seems that I've heard about an honor every day that you have received. Keep up the good work. Love, Ginger
P.S. You're a great guy. It's a pleasure to know you.

In the fall of 1950 the idea was conceived in the creative writing class to start a magazine within the school, which, by publishing the creative writing of the students and providing the chance to participate in publishing such a magazine, would encourage literary endeavor. With the help of Mrs. Phyllis Peacock, who taught the class, Mary Forrest selected a staff and began work on the first edition. Winged Words, founded on the basis that all articles were to be original, appeared in January, 1951, the first of its kind in Raleigh. Issues were sent to schools in other states, and it was on display in the library of Columbia University in the spring of that year. During the year of 1951-52 two issues were published under the leadership of Roberta Dixon, and the magazine received national acclaim in the magazine, Know How. Two issues appeared in 1952-53, and in April of 1954, with the help of the new graphic arts department, the sixth edition was published.

This year the literary magazine, Winged Words, was edited for the fifth year. Early in September, under the direction of the editor, Joanne Tripp, and the assistant editor, Donald Fry, the staff began work on the issues for 1954-55. Writing editor, Margaret Paris, assisted by readers, Marilyn Raper, Carolyn Myers, Kay Newell, and Nancy Bowning, organized and presented to the selecting staff the original manuscripts submitted by students or English teachers. Meanwhile, corresponding secretary, Carolyn Mallard, was busy writing to the schools and colleges in the state concerning their literary publications. Business manager, Barry Collins, and publicity editors, Rita Bennett and David Townes, worked from the first of the year until the last copy of Winged Words was sold handling the finances and the extensive sales campaigns.

After the final selections were made by a special committee, the editorial staff took over. Typing editors, Lota Brian and Betsy Brian, aided by typists, Nancy Tunnell and Jane Low, prepared the dummy copy, which was sent to proofreading editors, Lucia Jones and Ann Crittenden, and their staff, Lois Haigh and Susan Peeler. The magazine took form in the hands of layout editor, Frances Johnson, consulting with art editor, Nicki Stamey.

The first issue was sent to press and appeared in February. It contained a special section devoted to Broughton's Silver Anniversary. A second issue was published in the spring and sold in May.

Our Best to You

Established at Broughton in 1952, the Junior Literary Magazine is a publication which recognizes the writing ability of under-classmen. Headed by Mr. Napowsa, the staff of the magazine is composed of sub-freshmen, freshmen, and sophomores. The purpose of the organization is to select the best papers sent in from English classes and to publish them.

Stewart - I guess you know me as well as anyone at Broughton. When I was a little eighth grader in need of a friend I found one in you. Since then there have been many memories which are all remembered now in happiness. All our little petty fusses were well worth the happy moments we shared together. Every young boy loves to have a best friend who is a sworn confidant, and that I found in you. Do you remember when we smoked our first Pall Mall's behind all those trees and I never could learn to inhale. Do you remember how I'd come over some nights and when it was time to go you'd wait for the bus with me. And how we harassed Peggy for transportation! Since then we have gone our separate degrees because we have both matured in different ways. But through it all, down underneath, we're been the same good friends. These past years have taught us to accept eachother for what each of us are; when in the past we thought to model to other of our own image but to attain our own personal peace of mind and inner satisfaction we have each required contrasting qualities. If in the coming years we seldom see each other for the reasons just mentioned, I will still consider you my first personal friend. And I think that both ways it is a friendship that cannot be broken by time and space. Those first years will live with me always and I could never be anything else but a friend. Perhaps its because the happy moments were so complete that all the unhappy ones seem

OFFICERS

To salute the silver anniversary of Broughton, the Little Theater contributed its all this year. It started the guns roaring with the play, "Ten Little Indians," which proved to be a great success. Later the club built the set for the Senior Play, "January Thaw." Then to keep up the pace, "The Terrible Meek" was given on March 25 and entered into the District Festival Contest at East Carolina. "Cat Night Life," written by Sid Raper, a core dramatics student, was given at the Carolina Dramatics Festival in Chapel Hill. This play was one of the two high school plays which were selected to be given, and this year is the first year that Broughton has received this honor.

Membership in the Little Theater is open to all students in the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes interested in any phase of dramatics. Evidently there are quite a few students interested, for the Little Theater boasts a membership of 169 students.

Officers were elected early in the year by the club, and these officers led the meetings which were held each month. Through these meetings, the members learned much about the activities of other clubs, costumes, make-up, current plays, stage-setting, and the theater itself.

Under the guidance of Miss Nan Wilkinson, the club promoted interest and knowledge of dramatic talent and work.

If you were to thumb through a scrapbook of Broughton's twenty-five years and find the playbills of the Little Theater productions in its pages, and if you were to go through their lists of stagehands, and actors, make-up girls, and prompters, you would find in each, not one but many names of Golden Masquers. The purpose of the club is not only to recognize these students excelling in the dramatic arts but also to further the interests in dramatics in the schools. Each year the club presents a play and adopts a worthy project. There are many ways to serve one's school and many fields in which to excell. Wherever the glow of hot lights and smell of grease paint is found in the school; there you will find the Golden Masquers.

The Key Club is an international organization sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. The Needham Broughton Key Club has unquestionably proved its motto, "We Build," within its five year existence.

The Club's six objectives are as follows: to develop initiative and leadership; to provide experience in living and working together; to serve the school and community; to co-operate with the school principal; to prepare for useful citizenship; to accept and promote the Constitutional Objectives of Kiwanis International.

The membership consists of boys from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes who are examples of the clubs objectives.

The Key Club has promoted five main projects during the 1954-55 school year. Key Clubbers were responsible for organizing the present parking system in the school's new parking lot; washing and varnishing seats in the school auditorium; washing windshields for the March of Dimes; giving trophies to the outstanding players of the minor sports; selling drinks at basketball games for the Raleigh High School Athletic Association.

The Officers for the Key Club 1954-55 year are:

GRETCHEN BARNETTE.....Secretary
MARILYN RAPER.....Treasurer

The Broughton Speech Club and National Forensic League are sister organizations which promote speech activities in the school. The Speech Club recognizes those students who have excelled in this field and is therefore an honor club. Members are elected into the club twice a year, and each candidate must receive a majority vote. Those students taken in at the first induction are Carolyn Coggin, Sue Drake, Gus Reavis, Neal Caplan, Lynne Courtney, Jerry Ellisberg, and Lowell Spivey.

Any interested person who has participated in enough speech activities to merit twenty points may be a member of the National Forensic League. Degrees are awarded according to the number of points a student has. These are the degrees:

20 points: Degree of Merit
50 points: Degree of Honor
100 points: Degree of Excellence
200 points: Degree of Distinction

This year the Speech Club and N. F. L. has either sponsored or participated in several practice tournaments: the "I Speak for Democracy," the "World Peace," and the Patriotic Sons of America contests, several practice congresses, the N. F. L. District Congress (in which Broughton students won 7 of the 10 awards), many radio and television programs, and the N. F. L. District Tournament.

Mimeographing Staff

Although limited in number, the eleven members of the mimeographing staff make up for their smallness in number in efficiency. The group works diligently to accomplish the many tasks set before them—typing various stencils for tests, P.T.A. programs, and plays. Also, they have done outstanding work in co-operating with the teachers while typing tests, outlines, and other things to facilitate teaching and learning in the classrooms—working often early in the morning before school or until dark at night. This staff is composed of nine seniors: Margaret Henderson, Peggy Rideout, Nancy Stevens, Mary Sue Stevenson, Marjorie Estes, Shelby Raynor, Jane Low, and Richard Rutherford, plus two juniors, Martha Hardy and Eddie Collins. These students take this course in place of an interest subject and have a scheduled period each day or every other day.

On the average, the mimeographing staff cuts 10 stencils a week, in addition to typing great numbers of masters for the ditto machine. This year, the staff has cut around 320 stencils.

The Hi-Times and the LATIPAC could not be published without the help of the staff and members of the typing classes, who take their class periods to type these two publications.

The mimeographing staff is selected on the basis of dependability, co-operation, and ability to type.

Library Club

For the year 1954-55 Gloria Byrd, Annie Lou Smith, Joyce Testerman, Kay Kenerson, and Janet Caudle served as the respective officers of the Club. The group has been an active supporter of the activities of the North Central District of NCHSLAA, with two of its members being district officers. Mrs. McLain is the adviser of the thirty-five members.

ATHLETICS

The Girls' Athletic Association

The Girls' Athletic Association began its 1954-55 season with the first regular meeting in September. At this time the new officers which were elected in the spring of last year assumed their duties. Under the leadership of Nancy Mumford, President; Ellen Pemberton, Vice-President; Jayn Cochran, Secretary; Faye Branham, Points Secretary; Sarah Beverly, Treasurer; Joanne Womble, Chaplain; and Miss Guyton and Mrs. McNeish, Advisers, we eagerly began the fall season with volleyball and a new sport which made a big hit, touchdown.

The first big event of the year was the playday which the Broughton G.A.A. held with the Morson G.A.A. as its guests. Volleyball, tennis, and ping-pong were among the activities of the afternoon. Teams were organized with members of both clubs on each team. After every one was thoroughly exhausted, refreshments of cokes, doughnuts, and potato chips were served.

It wasn't long until we began basketball, one of the favorites of the G.A.A. Not too long after beginning basketball, we received an invitation to attend the first annual playday at Henderson, N. C. Early on Saturday morning twelve of the girls left in cars to travel to Henderson for a day of sports. The schedule for the day included registration, basketball, lunch, volleyball, ping-pong, and presentation of awards. Other schools represented at the playday were Hugh Morson, Durham, Oxford, Henderson, and Goldsboro. It was a wonderful experience for all concerned, and it will be looked forward to by next year's G.A.A.

The next big event for the G.A.A. was the Annual Student-Faculty Basketball game. Since the Faculty were the defending champs, we practiced long and hard. Finally the big night came. Despite all ladders, bells, and picnics, when the final buzzer sounded we had a 24 point margin over the All Star Faculty team. The final score 25 to 1! One of our biggest dreams had come true.

When the first warm days of spring arrived, we were eager to swing that bat and slam a homer. So we began the last major sport of the year, softball. Along with softball, the tennis rackets smashed and balls hummed. Too, we played volleyball, shuffle board, ping-pong, and did stunts and tumbling.

Early in April the Broughton G.A.A. was invited over to Morson for a playday. Softball and relays were the main events of the afternoon.

The final and most thrilling event of the year was the presentation of the school letters, an honor well earned and deserved by many girls. This event brought to a close the 1954-1955 activities of the Broughton Girls' Athletic Association.

WILLS, Captain

Football 1954

In so far as the won and lost record is concerned, the last football campaign was not entirely successful, but everyone was encouraged by the spirit and the determination to improve by the team.

Under the guidance of the new coach, Paul Massey, the caps improved game after game, and by the end of the season, great things were looked forward to in the future.

Massey was overrun by all until this past year, when he took over the reigns of the Raleigh High squad and proved his ability as being a great coach and a great friend to all the boys.

The team had to fight against great odds this year because during the season the team was hampered by injuries.

Congratulations to Paul Massey!

FAYETTEVILLE 40—RALEIGH 6

The Fayetteville Bulldogs handed the Caps their third defeat of the season. Raleigh's only touchdown came when they took a Fayetteville kickoff and marched 61 yards for the touchdown. The best play of the drive was a pass from Tommy Little to Grey Poole, who lateralled to Tyson, who covered 31 yards. Rudy Wagner went the rest of the way for the touchdown. Bob Tyson, Rudy Wagner and John Johnson are the standouts for the Caps.

RALEIGH 20—WILSON 13

The Raleigh Caps won their first conference game of the season against the Wilson Cyclones. Coming to life in the second half, the Caps scored three touchdowns. Asher scored twice and Randy Harrell made the last one. The standouts for Raleigh were, Richard Ray, Grey Poole, Ed Bost, and Mert King.

RALEIGH 13—KINSTON 18

The Caps suffered their second straight loss of the season when the Kinston team edged them 18-13. Rudy Wagner was the standout player for Raleigh by scoring two touchdowns and making many tackles from his linebacker position on defense. Other standouts for Raleigh were Richard Ray and Grey Poole.

BURLINGTON 20—RALEIGH 0

The Burlington Bulldogs scored two touchdowns in the last quarter for ample points to beat Raleigh. The Raleigh team was hampered by fumbles throughout the game. The Caps only drive was stopped when they were held for only one yard in three tries. Those that played exceptionally well during the game were, Jim Martin, John Johnson, H. T. Eubanks, and Jack Wilson.

RALEIGH 7—WILMINGTON 7

The Raleigh Caps battled the Wildcats to a 7-7 tie in one of the best games of the season. Both teams scored in the last seven minutes of the game. Raleigh's touchdown came when Jack Wilson passed to John Johnson in the end zone. Phil Brewer kicked the extra point. Roddy Crosby and Merton King were standouts in the game.

RALEIGH 7—GREENSBORO 20

The Raleigh Caps made their debut under new coach Paul Massey before 10,000 people and were defeated by Greensboro in a hard fought contest. It was a fairly close ball game for three quarters, but Greensboro's heavy line and fleet backs won the game easily in the final quarter by pushing across two touchdowns. Four touchdowns were called back in a game that was marred by penalties. Greensboro held only a 7-point margin at half-time because of the frequent penalties and the brilliant punting of Robert Mangum. Raleigh's only touchdown of the game came on a pass from Quarterback Tommy Little to Bobby Asher, who made a dazzling 45-yard run for the touchdown.

RALEIGH 0—DURHAM 25

Heavily favored State Champions, Durham, soundly mauled the Caps 25-0 at Durham. The heavier and faster Bulldogs completely swept the Caps off their feet. Raleigh could do nothing right for most of the night.

CARROLL KING, WATSON HOLYFIELD

The Raleigh High School basketball team, under the guidance of Coach Carroll King and Assistant Coach Watson Holyfield, floored a court of experienced veterans. Lost to this year's team were Pete Eberhart, Julian Adams, Johnny Upchurch, Milton Haynes, and Ray Wickers by way of graduation. Even without the help of those men, the team progressed rapidly and went on to accomplish a fine season's record and produce several players worthy of All-State recognition.

The Caps started off the season with Coach King still looking for a combination that would capture the Class AAA State Championship for the fourth straight year. As the season progressed, the first string was composed of Bill Brickhouse and Semi Mintz at the guard slots, Richard Ray at center, and Fred DeBerry and Rex McMillan at the forward positions. Before mid-season, lanky Grey Poole and Billy Hitchcock had worked their way into a starting position at the center and guard spot, respectively. Although the Caps' bench was lacking in experience, the starting five had able backing from Earnest Price, John Johnson, Roy High, Bruce Hoadly, Bill Shinn, Lynn Stinson, Phil Collins, and H. T. Eubanks.

The Caps were "red-hot" at the first of the season, and opened with an aggressive victory over Burlington, of the Western AAA Conference. Led by Rex McMillan and Fred DeBerry, the Caps laid off for the Christmas holidays nursing a fine game-winning streak including a second victory over Burlington and a win over a strong Wake Forest J.V. team. After the vacation, the Caps jumped back into the win column by scoring four wins over conference opponents, extending their streak to 9 games. Then Raleigh traveled to the "Port City" of Wilmington and were soundly beaten 59-39. Raleigh went on to finish the schedule with only two losses, the other resulting at the hands of the Wake Forest J. V. team, 64-49. Their record for the season was 16 wins against 2 losses, and their conference record was 11 wins and 1 loss. This was good enough to clinch the Eastern Conference Championship for the Capitals.

Looking forward to next season shows that a lot of rebuilding will have to be done by Coach King and his staff. They will be without the service of four starters and three scrappy reserves. Graduating seniors are DeBerry, Mintz, McMillan, Hitchcock, Brickhouse, Ray, and High. With the help of a strong J.V. team and a little experience to the reserves, next year's team should round into a good crew to protect the Eastern Conference crown and go after the State Championship.

RALEIGH 70—BURLINGTON 57

Raleigh State AAA Champion Caps opened their 1954-55 cage campaign with a 70-57 victory over Burlington. Forward Rex McMillan rippled the nets for 20 points in the December 3 non-conference contest at Broughton Gym. The hook shots of 6' 6" center Jerry Roberson and the jump shots of forward Bill Oliver kept the Western Conference Bulldogs in the game for three quarters. The Caps led at the beginning of the final period 52-46. Forward Fred DeBerry kept the local fans happy with some lay-ups as he scored 15 points. Last year's high scorer, guard Semi Mintz, was held to 6 points, but played a fine defensive game and set up most of the scoring plays of the Caps.

RALEIGH 55—CHARLOTTE CENTRAL 50

With speedy forward, Rex McMillan, leading the way with 21 points, the Raleigh Caps took their third straight victory of the season by dumping Charlotte Central 55-50 in Charlotte. In the December 11 clash with Western AAA Conference Wildcats, Raleigh trailed 29-26 at the half but came back strong in the third quarter to take a 45-35 lead. Coach Carroll King's cagers played possession ball in the final period to take the victory.

RALEIGH 69—WAKE FOREST J. V.'s 66

With last year's veterans leading the way, Raleigh's Caps withstood a final-quarter rally to defeat the Wake Forest J.V.'s, 69-66.

The Caps took an early lead and outscored the Baby Deac's in every quarter but the last, when the boys from Baptist Hollow finally began to find the range.

Raleigh used a fast break to overcome the height advantage that the Deac's boasted. But Fred DeBerry and Richard Ray, both of whom can throw hips and elbows with the best of the prep stars in the state, gave the tall boys a battle royal under the boards.

Guard Semi Mintz led Raleigh with 24 points, with DeBerry not far behind with 18; Richard Ray had 14.

Bright spot in the Raleigh victory was the play of DeBerry. While grabbing 14 rebounds and 18 points Fred turned in what was probably the most outstanding game of his career. His work on defense was also great. Fred passed off to team mates more than once when he had a chance for two.

RALEIGH 63—BURLINGTON 46

Raleigh defeated Burlington 63-46 for their 4th straight win of the season and their second win over Burlington.

Burlington took a 3-0 lead before Raleigh scored. DeBerry scored 8 straight points to tie the score at 12-12 at the end of the first quarter. DeBerry started the second quarter rolling with two free throws. After that Raleigh was never threatened during the the rest of the game.

RALEIGH 53—GREENSBORO 45

Raleigh defeated Greensboro 53-45 in a slow preliminary game at the Coliseum. It was the fifth straight victory for the Caps.

Raleigh gained the lead midway the first quarter and set the pace the rest of the way, althought the Caps couldn't get a comfortable lead until the final minute of the third period. Greensboro elected to play a zone defense until Raleigh started to freeze the ball in the last three minutes.

RALEIGH 64—DURHAM 42

The Raleigh Caps opened their conference schedule on January 5 by defeating the Durham Bulldogs, 64-42. About 1,000 people turned out to see Coach Carroll King's Caps take the lead in the first two minutes of play and go on to win their sixth straight victory. Raleigh's first string saw little action after the second half as King used his entire 15-man squad.

Captain Semi Mintz, a clever 6' 2" senior guard, sparked the Raleigh attack with 18 points.

RALEIGH 66—FAYETTEVILLE 53

Fayetteville's Bulldogs could not match Raleigh's speed and power off the backboards as the Caps rolled to an easy 66-53 victory in Broughton Gym on January 7. Raleigh marched to its seventh straight victory without a defeat. It was also their second conference win. Poole and DeBerry played terrific games off the backboards and prevented Fayetteville from getting many extra shots. Danny Underwood, Fayetteville's 6' 4" center, took high scoring for the game with 17 points. McMillan and Poole led the scoring for Raleigh with 16 points each.

RALEIGH 57—ROCKY MOUNT 43

Raleigh Caps, the State Champs, added another victory to their win column on January 14 by defeating the Blackbirds of Rocky Mount by a score of 57-43. It was the eighth straight victory for the unbeaten Caps.

Coach Carroll King's Caps scored 12 points before Rocky Mount could find the range with only 1:25 left in the quarter. At half-time Raleigh was leading 35-15. After the Caps took their initial advantage the Blackbirds never were closer than 11 points. Raleigh had a definite advantage on the backboards and completely outplayed the Blackbirds.

Heading the way for the Caps was Captain Semi Mintz who sparked the Raleigh attack with 14 points. Forward Rex McMillan scored 13 and center Grey Poole made ten.

CAPS BEAT WILSON 60-57

Raleigh's Caps cooled off a hot Wilson team in the closing 12 minutes and squeezed past the Cyclones 60-57 nere.

Paul Blake, a slender senior center, was the ringleader in the Wilson surge which came within one wild shot of overtaking the heavily-favored Caps in the last 15 seconds.

The Capitals led by 13 points, 47-34, midway in the third period when Blake hit 11 straight points for his team and cut the Raleigh lead to six points early in the final period.

Freed Dean, tallest man on the Wilson squad at 6' 2", started off the fourth period with two free throws and Blake hit a string of eight more points points early in the final period. Raleigh's lead was cut to two points, 55-53.

With 15 seconds left, Wilson got the ball and fired a wild shot from the outside. Billy Hitchcock got the ball and was fouled as the game ended. He added Raleigh's sixtieth point.

McMillan, hitting one-hand push shots, was the scoring leader for the Caps with 22 points. Richard Ray scored 16 points. Wilson's Paul Blake played an outstanding game at defense and offense, leading Wilson's scoring with 32 points.

GUARDS

Mintz, Price, Eubanks, Brickhouse, Hitchcock, Stinson.

WILMINGTON 59—RALEIGH 39

Wilmington's Wildcats, sparked by center Danny Parham's 21 points, dumped the visiting Raleigh Caps by a 59-39 score on January 21. The Caps were still very much in the game until the final period when the Port City five outscored the State Champs 22-7.

Center Grey Poole and forward Rex McMillan were the bright spots in the first 1954-55 defeat of the Caps with 13 and 10 points, respectively.

Raleigh hit for only 22.2 per cent accuracy as Wilmington hit for 39.6 per cent.

RALEIGH 92—GOLDSBORO 51

The Caps turned in their highest scoring performance of the season when they defeated Goldsboro's Quakers, 92-51, in the Broughton gym. They outclaseed Goldsboro completely and handed them their 10th defeat.

After Raleigh rolled up the score of 21-8 at the end of the first quarter, coach King used his regulars sparingly. The Caps controlled the boards throughout and stole the ball frequently, setting up layups for McMillan and DeBerry. Raleigh hit on 36 field goals in 79 attempts for an excellent 45.6 accuracy. Hoadly even made nine goals without trying, his pass being deflected into the basket by Paley, their high scorer, with 21 points.

The defending champs scoring was led by McMillan and DeBerry.

RALEIGH 49—BABY DEACS 64

An improved Wake Forest Freshman team came into the Broughton gym January 28, with all the determination of getting revenge on Raleigh, as they were defeated by them at the first of the year. They did just that and by a score of 64-59. This was the first defeat for Raleigh, at home. The Deacons took a three-point lead in a very close quarter. Then they broke the game wide-open by out-scoring the Caps. Forward Henry Bowers led the way for the Deacs with 14 points. Rex McMillan led both teams with 15 points. Wake Forest held a big height advantage, but Raleigh lost the game by very poor shooting. Even though making a poor showing, Raleigh expected to be out of the slump for the next game.

RALEIGH 57—FAYETTEVILLE 39

Raleigh lengthened their conference lead by defeating Fayetteville for the second time February 1. Raleigh jumped to 8-0 lead before Fayetteville scored.

Raleigh led 16-8 at the end of the first period. At half-time Raleigh was ahead by ten, 26-16.

Midway the third period Fayetteville rallied to cut the lead to six points, but Raleigh cut it short and led 39-27 at the beginning of the final period.

Semi Mintz led the Raleigh scoring with 20 points. No other Cap scored in the double figures.

Danny Underwood was leading scorer for Fayetteville with 11 points.

RALEIGH 68—CYCLONES 40

Th Raleigh Caps came through with their sixth victory in the Eastern Class AAA Conference. They were just too tough for the Wilson five. Wilson, struggling to hang onto fourth place and earn a berth in the State tourney, now had a record of five wins and four defeats. Captain Semi Mintz, turned in a brilliant outside shooting performance as Raleigh's zone defense trounced the Cyclones, 68-40.

The game was close only in the opening minutes with victory coming much easier than Raleigh had expected. Grey Poole, center for Raleigh, wrecked the Wilson club when getting 25 rebounds. Raleigh for the season, now had a record of 12 wins and 2 losses.

RALEIGH 65—ROCKY MOUNT 38

Raleigh turned back the Blackbirds of Rocky Mount 65-38. The Caps had little trouble beating the outclassed Blackbirds.

Raleigh had an 18-9 lead at the end of the first quarter and 35-29 lead at the half. At the beginning of the final period the second and third strings came in. These boys proved that we will have a strong team next year by running away with the game.

It was Raleigh's 8th conference game.

CAPS TAME BULLDOGS 72-66

With forward Rex McMillan pouring in 23 points, Raleigh's Caps scored their ninth Eastern Conference victory of the year by defeating Durham, there, 72-66.

The Bulldogs put up a stubborn fight trailing only 43-40 when the final period got underway.

Guard Semi Mintz followed McMillan with 20 points while forward Buddy Durst led Durham with 22.

This was the seventh conference loss against only 3 victories for the Bulldogs while the Caps led the conference race with a 9-1 record.

CAPS WIN EASTERN AAA CROWN BY DEFEATING WILMINGTON 51-46

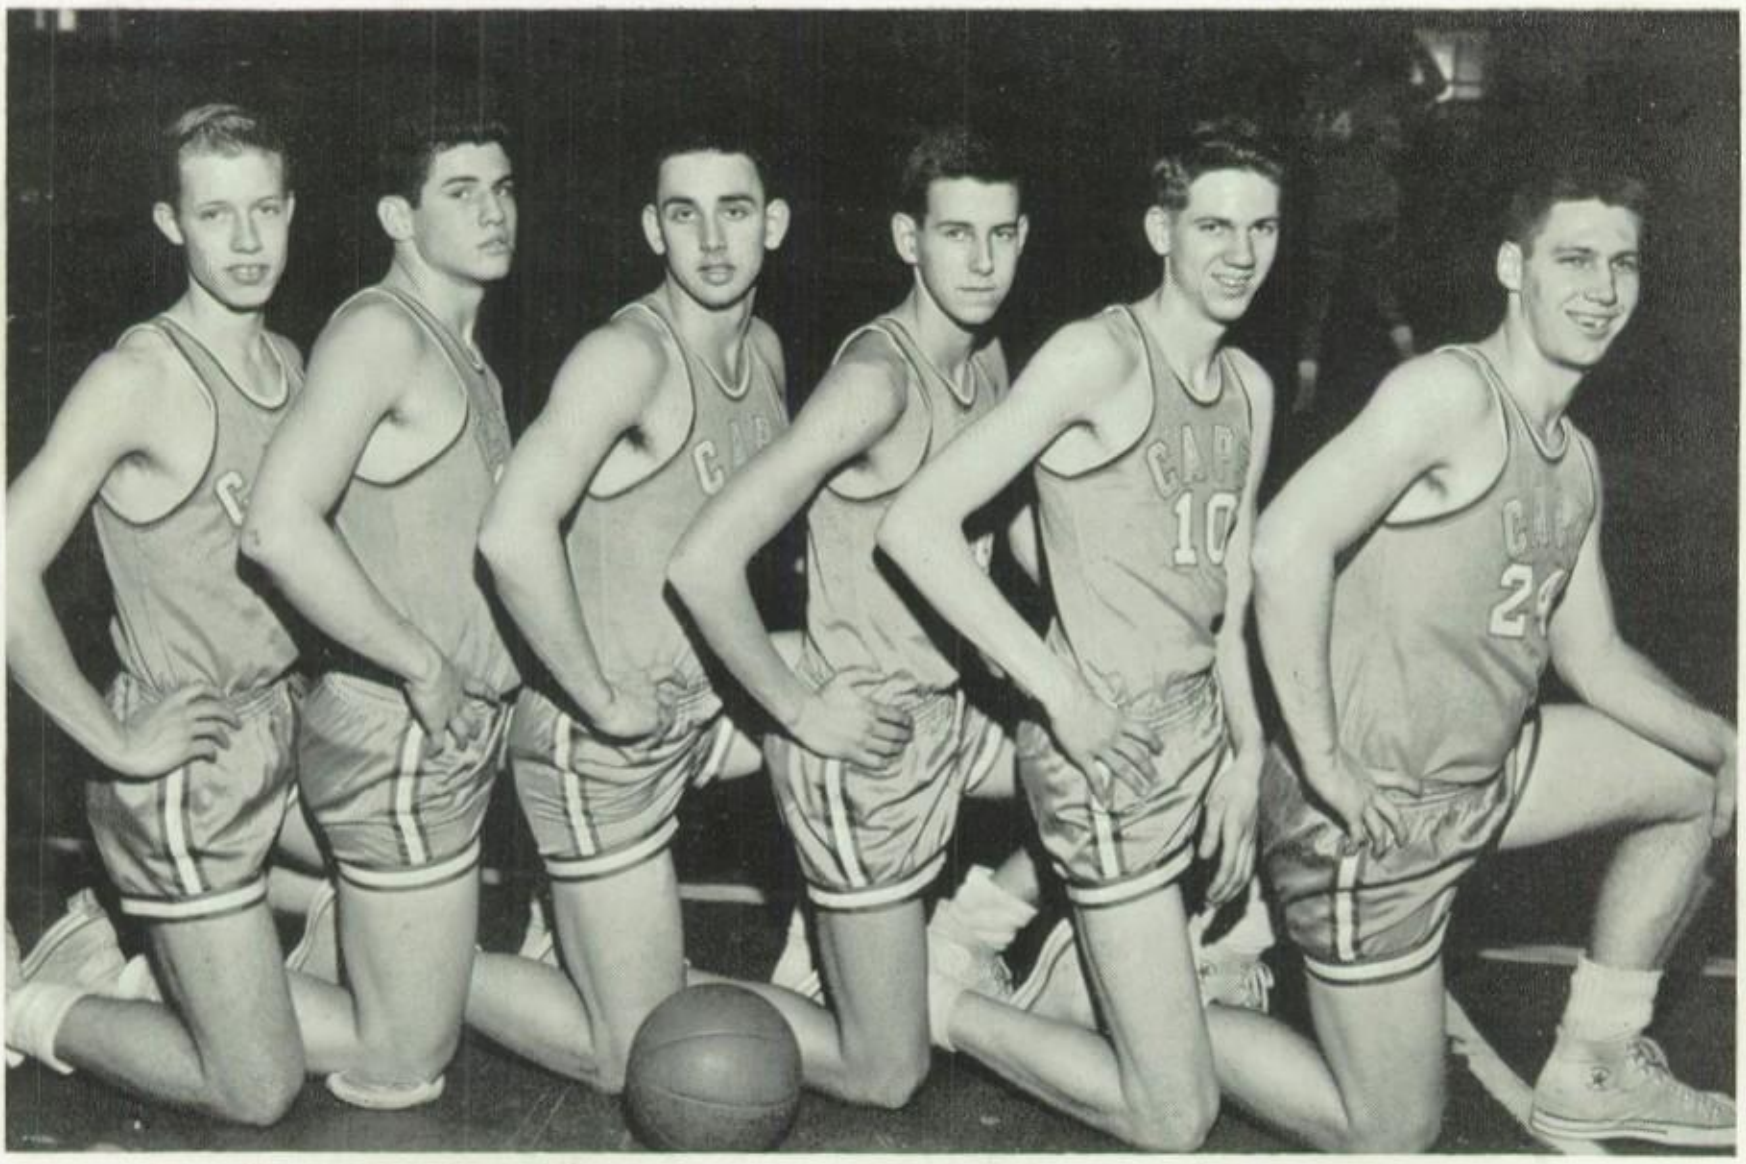
Raleigh's Caps' brilliant second-half rally to score a 51-46 victory over the Wilmington Wildcats clinched the Eastern Class AAA Conference title.

Raleigh was ahead by 14 points midway the second quarter and had an 11 point advantage at the half-time, 34-23. The Wildcats scored the first six points of the second half and were behind by only two points, 44-42 at the end of the third period. At the start of the fourth period Fred DeBerry put Raleigh ahead by four points on a one-handed shot. Captain Semi Mintz was then fouled by Hookie Hales and made both free tosses for the Caps. Don Sellers made his only field goal of the game to cut Raleigh lead to four points. The Caps then froze the ball until Danny Easteen stole the ball and was fouled on his attempted shot and made both free throws. With only 30 seconds, left, Fred DeBerry was forced into a jump ball with Boyd Cole. Wilmington controlled the tap and Sellers took a shot, but missed and Grey Poole grabbed the rebound and was fouled. Poole sank both free throws for the Caps. Semi Mintz was fouled at the end of the game, but was unable to take his shots until the gym was cleared of the spectators.

Forward Rex McMillan was the game's high scorer with 16 points. Mintz made 13 and DeBerry and Poole collected 8 points each. Poole and DeBerry both played an outstanding defensive game for Raleigh.

RALEIGH 46—GOLDSBORO 36

Raleigh finished their regular season with a win, 46-36. This gave the Caps an 11-1 conference record and a 17-2 over-all record. Goldsboro elected to play a possession game in hopes of keeping the score down. They did a good job of it and held the Caps to their lowest offensive showing of the season. Raleigh was threated only once when the score was 16-16. Then Raleigh scored 7 straight points to take the lead for the rest of the game.



FORWARDS: High, Johnson, McMillan, Shinn, Hoadley, DeBerry.

With many new members added to the old ones, the team started off its season by traveling to Wilmington where they out-swam the Wildcats 42-33.

The next weekend saw Wilmington coming to Raleigh where they were again beaten 43-32.

Next, a strong team from Greensboro came to Raleigh and took the home team by a score of 39-36.

In the next meet, which was in Greensboro, Raleigh was defeated by a wider margin. Following this, the tankmen went to the annual Southern Interscholastic Meet at Chapel Hill. Here, the team placed fourth in a field of seven.

Two weeks later the home boys again went to Chapel Hill for the State Championship Meet. This time, the team placed third behind Greensboro and High Point.

Although the season terminated at the completion of the State Championship, most of the team members went unattached to Durham for the Duke Invitational Meet, where the local boys chalked up the third highest number of points. In this meet, Jon Mackey took first in the diving.

SENIOR STORY

By

Mary Lynn Moody and Jane Wayburn

We were scared, very scared on that first day at Needham Broughton back on September 3 in 1950. If any group ever looked like country come to town, that was us. With our new Tonis, crew cuts, starched dresses, and draped pants, we really thought that we were tough. We chomped on our bubble gum a little more vigorously than usual, but we refused to lose our thirteen-year-old dignity by blowing bubbles before the upperclassmen.

We made our way into the auditorium with trembling knees where a booming voice bade us sit down. There was a mad scramble for seats as everyone grabbed for his friend's hand, and in no time at all, the Class of '55 was assembled for the first time, the Fred Olds gang on one side of the auditorium and the Myrtle Underwood crew on the other, while the less competitive ones occupied the center. There and then, the school rules were laid out before us. These were to be our restrictions for the next five years; No smoking (there were a few giggles at this announcement, as most of us were not then indulging in this cancer causing habit), No leaving the school grounds during school hours (this rule didn't faze us either, as we had not yet been introduced to the "Milky Way") and last but not least, no hazing or initiation on the school grounds. (This brought a sigh of relief, and the fear of the deep and dark "pits" was gone.)

Then eight brave men and women who had made the grave mistake of becoming eighth grade teachers, mustered up their nicest smiles, and herded their twenty or thirty pupils together. We said goodbye to our grammar school buddies with heavy hearts and cast a reproachful glance at our new classmates who had been our bitter rivals for seven long years. Then we were on our way, and five wonderful years lay ahead.

After a few weeks of going up and down the wrong steps, worshipping our senior idol, being late to classes, and dancing (? ?) in gym classes, our first real high school duty faced us, and we began some vigorous campaigning for class officers. To the amazement of our older friends, we decided that the weaker sex had good leaders too, and we elected Betsy Purcell President of our Sub-Freshmen class. When the Hi-Times went to press, this election captured the spotlight, and we were very delighted that we had broken the usual rules of convention.

In February, we got our first taste of the excitement and glamor of the Queen of Hearts assembly. We proudly applauded our attendant, Faye Arnold, as she was met by Bill Merriman at the end of the long aisle. That night, many of us were seen standing, but not dancing, at the Queen of Hearts dance.

Then in the spring came the eighth grade dance, and what a dance!! While the records played on, the girls shuffled nervously on one side of the gym while the boys stood bashfully in little groups on the other. Finally the tension was broken. A multiplication dance was started, and we got a chance to show off our newly acquired knowledge of the dance rage—the box step. We were still at the awkward stage, so actually we stumbled more than we danced, but spirits were high because this was our dance. We had planned and decorated for it, and no one could convince us that our decorations of green and yellow crepe paper weren't the prettiest that had ever been used at Broughton. We hit cloud number seven when that special young man asked us to dance or that sweet young lady graciously accepted an invitation to dance. High school seemed to bring one good time after another, and we already loved it. We were beginning to think that the next four years would be a breeze.

But then came the ninth grade and Latin and Algebra, and the smug expressions vanished, and wrinkles began to show on our foreheads. We thought we were pretty wise and old, because we no longer had the dreadful "Sub" tacked to our title. The first taste of what real studying was like came in the first of this year. And yet, as all ninth graders have, we set out to see who could join the most after-school clubs. Y-Teens, Mixed Chorus, Little Theater, and the Latin Club were invaded by numbers of our class, and some of our boys were taken into the Jr. Hi-Y. A few of the promising thespians of our class were cast in "Men Are Like Streetcars."

Again we cast ballots, and the freshman class officers elected were: Bob Alphin, President, Van Calton, Vice-President, Lynne Courtney, Secretary, Marjorie Linzey, Treasurer, and Richard Ray, Sergeant-at-Arms, for the second straight year. A few days later, we gathered to elect a class adviser. We just couldn't overlook our English teacher, Mr. Norwood Smith, who had, by this time, threatened to hang most of us out the window by our toes. And so in order to pacify him, so that many of these dangerous threats would not be executed, we chose him as the teacher to be our counsellor and friend for the next four years. Since that time, we have realized more and more the value of this choice.

In November, we donned our warmest clothes for homecoming, and in February, we again climbed into evening dresses for the Queen of Hearts Dance. This year, Landrum Manning and Kay Zeigler, who were members of the Class of '55, made their way shakily down the aisle to the beautiful strains of "The Priest's March." While the juniors and seniors went to New York, we underclassmen remained at home to watch our basketball team win the State Championship.

Naturally, at some time during a class's stay at Broughton, there just has to be a square dance. And so amid straw and wooden fences, we danced the Virginia Reel—the boys in their jeans and flashy suspenders and the girls in their calico dresses. The caller screamed out "Swing that pardner with a smile" and swing we did until we were dizzy and our feet ached.

In May the time rolled around for the Student Council elections, and we began to feel our value to the school. One of our classmates would be chosen as secretary. Mary Lynn Moody was elected, and we realized for the first time that we were now a part of the functions at Broughton. We found that several of the girls in our class, Judy Levi, Bettie Sue Caviness, Joyce Little, and Faye Arnold, had extra large lungs and an oversupply of pep and energy, so we proudly elected them J.V. cheerleaders.

As the year came to a close, we realized that we were gaining our self-confidence and became proud of being a part of Needham Broughton. There were three years left, and we were determined to make the most of them.

Our sophomore year, probably the most wonderful and exciting, found us with our hands in practically every little activity at Broughton. This year marked the middle of our five years in high school, and we took full advantage of this fact. We entered into the middle of everything—the work, extra-curricula activities, the fun, which was so important to us then, and those with stronger stomachs even entered into the middle of worms and frogs! Under the leadership of Semi Mintz, President; Billy Brickhouse, Vice-President; Kim Hatcher, Secretary; Polly Wood, Treasurer; and Hugh Bennett, Sergeant-at-Arms, we began a year full of work and good times, although often our books were neglected as we stepped into the social scene. Some of our girls even ventured to make their debut to high school society by engaging a band to beat out a few tunes for their Christmas dance. It was around Halloween of this year that Bettie Sue Caviness's strange affinity for black cats never failed to be mentioned when she passed the corner at Fairview Road and St. Mary's Street. If you aren't one of the lucky ones who has heard the story of "Sudie's" meeting with the black cat on that corner, you just haven't lived! ! !

During football season, we saw Richard Ray star on the gridiron, and later in the year, we cheered as Fred DeBerry galloped around the basketball court. As a result of his fine play that year, "DeBerry" was chosen as one of the 500 best high school basketball players in the nation.

Many of our boys were taken into the Junior Hi-Y, but for some strange reason, more girls were seen wearing Hi-Y pins than boys. We also started a new Junior Literary Magazine, and Robert Stewart, one of the more creative members of our class, was chosen editor. Our swimming team, aided by Russell Bray, Jimmy Thompson, Nicky Nichols, and Base Blackwell, won the state championship as did the basketball team for its second year. In the spring a drought hit town, and the water supply dwindled lower and lower. While the Raleigh officials were trying to find better methods of supplying the town with water, the girls in our class, as well as the other classes, were down on their knees in thanks to Mother Nature, because the water shortage meant no showers after gym. This meant that curly hair could be preserved for a while anyway.

This was also the year of the mock presidential election, and "I Like Ike" buttons became a standard ornament for many students. We soon found that the Democratic South was packed with Republicians after all, and some of the Democrats joined with the "elephant" enthusiasts to elect "Ike" President. Imagine the Eisenhower backer's delight when their man won the real thing! !

Perhaps the most wonderful part of this year was the sixteenth birthdays. We tried to look nonchalant as we passed our newly acquired driver's license around for others to see, but try as we would to act like experienced drivers, we still clutched the wheel tightly and held our breath an extra long count when we went through the down-town traffiic.

We wore many a shoe sole thin as we traveled through our neighborhood selling magazines and Christmas wrapping paper. Our neighbors began to hide when they saw us coming, but we were determined to build up our class treasury.

In December, the annual Student Council dance, the "Snowball" was held, and many of us who were on Student Council committees spent many hours winding crepe paper and scattering "snow" on the make believe trees in the gym.

Our representatives to the Queen of Hearts Court this year were Joyce Little and Betsy Purcell, and Faye Arnold was the girl chosen from our class to be a varsity cheerleader. We also entered into the upperclassmen's privilege of electing marshals and Jean Leach, Faye Arnold, Billy Brickhouse, and Jerry Jones were the four whom we chose to lead the seniors down the aisle. Student Council elections came around, and we elected Bob Alphin Vice-President.

During the warm weather, while most boys' and girls' fancies were turning lightly to love, and many couples could be seen talking under the crab apple trees in front of school, we were dashing madly about the lawn in search of wildflowers. We quick learned the difference between wild ginger and clover, but it took longer to get used to stumbling through briar patches and running into overhanging branches. Instead of getting together for hen and stag parties, we got together to roam through the woods, searching every inch of the ground for a new flower to add to our collection. We griped, we argued, we fussed about those nature jaunts, but when the booklets were finished, and we had seen the last of wild flowers for a while, we decided that actually the whole assignment had been loads of fun.

Graduation time came, and we watched the gowned seniors with a touch of sadness. We were almost upperclassmen. It seemed so hard to believe.

And then about the time that most of our noses had peeled away and our tans were a golden brown, it was September, and once again we made our way through the doors of Broughton. We knew that this year would be a bit different for us. The school and administration had changed, and so had we. There was a wonderful new addition to the building that afforded so many luxuries that we had long wanted. The student's lounge was the delight of the students, and many of our classmates had the chance to see the N. Y. Giants win the World Series on the set that year. Joseph Q. Holiday (we never have found out what that "Q" stands for) began his regime as Principal of Needham Broughton, and with his and Mr. Smith's help, we started our first year as upperclassmen.

After a few days of working and playing together, realization came that, now at last, many of us had begun to become young adults. We were still "Ready, willing, and able" to have fun, but somehow, this year's fun was different. When responsibilities came our way, we accepted and executed them with a sense of pride. We were just beginning to prepare ourselves for the future.

In our class election, Robert Sink was elected President, Donald Fry—Vice-President, Nancy Browning—Secretary, Gary Dozier—Treasurer, and Bobby Shoffner—Sergeant-at-Arms.

In the fall, the National Honor Society had it's first induction of the year, and tears streaked our faces as many of our classmates received the honor which they so deserved. Margaret Beattie, Nancy Browning, Johnny Cella, Ginger Hester, Margaret Paris, Jerry Jones, and Robert Sink were those juniors who held a white candle during this tapping, and in February, Ann Lee Barnhardt, Lota Brian, Donald Fry, Frances Johnson, and Carolyn Myers were the chosen ones.

Right before the Christmas holidays, we helped with the decorations for the Student Council dance once again, and we sold hundreds of boxes of wrapping paper—that is we sold them when we weren't at home learning all about the popular fellow, Pathogoras, or trying to balance a chemical equation.

After the new year had begun, the school activities occupied most of our time. First came exams, (need any more be said?) and the College Day. Then Katherine Renfrew and Kim Hatcher were chosen from our class to be in the Queen of Hearts Court, and the annual Student-Faculty game was held. By the way, the male teachers won this game by an unfair advantage—they cheated! ! ! !

The Service Club recognized Robert Stewart, Bob Alphin, Faye Arnold, Robert Sink, Jerry Jones, Henry Helms, Kim Hatcher, Mary Lynn Moody, and Betsy Purcell who had spent many afternoons and much of their free time working for the school. The magazine sales brought out our competitive spirit, and with Betsy Brian as high salesman—no—high saleswoman, we led the school in the sales.

Then came the long awaited New York Trip, and thirty of our classmates left for the big city to "paint the town red." No sooner had this gang arrived in Manhattan than the plague hit—the measles! ! ! There were moans and screams at the discovery of the little red bumps, but the ailing ones, determined to make the most of this trip, set out on the tours with the others—dark glasses, face powder, eye shadow, and all. It was a weary but merry group that met the screams of parents and friends on Sunday night as they climbed down from the train.

Then came that big night in March when an atmosphere of the Polynesian Islands prevailed at our first Junior-Senior. We actually were in paradise as we whirled around the floor to the music of—the boys in their tuxs, dinner jackets, and plaid cumberbunds, and the girls in their hoop skirts and colorful dresses. We had worked for weeks to perfect the decorations and plans in order to give the senoirs a beautiful dance, and we were bursting with pride when we entered this paradise land. The center of attraction in the decoration scheme was a big Polynesian idol, beautifully lighted, and complemented by tropical flowers, a bamboo hut, and flamingoes. When the last strains of "Good-night Sweetheart" died away, we reluctantly gathered our wraps and turned to thoughts of the following parties and beach trip to Wrightsville. The weather was, to our disappointment, a bit chilly, but some returned with faint traces of windburn; and a few took a dip, unwillingly, in the icy water.

Then came the senior assembly, and this time we entered into the program. It was hard to realize that when the last of them had walked across the stage to receive his diploma, we would be seniors—sophisticated seniors! Four years of high school had already flown by, and now it was our turn to take the lead.

"Our thoughts will be with you through the years.
We've had our share of good times and tears,
You leave your school to us now your friends. . . ."
We were seniors at last.

September 2, 1954, was just the beginning of another school year for most of the members of Broughton High, but to us 242 members of the Class of '55, it had a very special meaning. This was our year. We were no longer looking up to the seniors, because now we held that title. Suddenly the friendly greetings of our schoolmates took on a new importance, and as the school year began to unfold, each day brought a new challenge to each one of us. Our pride in our school and in our class grew, and the cliques began to dissolve as we made a last attempt to really get to know every individual in our class. We attended every school function possible, as we realized that this was our last chance.

This was a special year in another way, too, because it was the 25th anniversary of the school.

Jane's ready for the goblins. . . .

And the snow's came and so did vacation

Twenty-five rich years of Broughton's history were over, and we hoped that we could have possibly added something to her grandeur. We learned that Broughton would be consolidated with Morson and the Methodist Orphanage next year as a Senior High.

Anne and Phil at Snow Ball

This year was to be an end to a beginning, and for these reasons, we determined that we would make that a memorable year—the best of all.

Only a few days after we had begun to play our new role as seniors, the first assembly came and with it the senior's privilege of being led into the auditorum by the marshals. We had looked forward to this moment for a long, long time, and yet when the time came, we were scared—scared to death. With wet hands and weak knees, and with Betsy Balentine and Judy Drake leading us and Scottie Swindel and Phil Smith bringin' up the rear, we started majestically down the aisle—praying that we wouldn't trip or wouldn't even grin. We found ourselves almost running the thirty-four paces (we counted them) down the aisle, and breathed a sigh of relief when we settled into our broken seats with one mishap. (To whom is may concern, these seats are referred to as broken seats in hopes that now that twenty-five years are past, they will be fixed! ! !)

This year, we were the first class to elect our officers, and in the last week of September, we went to the polls—now doesn't that sound tough?—and elected Bobby Shoffner President of our Senior Class, Arthur Dozier—Vice-President, Ann Sloan—Secretary, Mary Lynn Moody—Treasurer, and Johnny Cella—Sergeant-at-Arms.

Then came the wonderful, wonderful fair on the sixteenth of October, and although many of us declared that the fair was "kid stuff," you probably saw three-fourths of the Class of '55, trudging along the midway with pandas and cotton candy from head to toe. The side shows were invaded by us, especially the boys! ! And some of the more daring lassies in our class, such as Faye Godwin and Barbara Paschal, took a spin on the rocket. All sizes and color teddy bears were won, bought or snitched by the boys for their favorite lassies, and it was a gay group that started for home.

By November, the football season was well underway, in fact it was almost over, and so the combined Student Councils of Morson and Broughton got together to choose a Friday for the homecoming festivities. Little did we know of the "young lady" that was about to hit town. And then while students were dashing madly about school in search of more purple and gold crepe paper to decorate cars and floats, and Kim Hatcher and Betsy Purcell with all the members of the student council committees, were selling homecoming corsages, a gal named "Hazel" was beginning to kick up her heels down on the Atlantic Coast. In no time at all, the weatherman was issuing hurricane warnings to the people in Raleigh, and the administration began to worry about their lil prodigals being swept out of school by the strong winds. Mr. Holiday's excited voice broke through on the PA system during 4th period, and in a whisk we were safe in our homes or either stranded in the parking lot in cars. Power lines trembled then fell cutting many of us off without one bit of electricity. So for the next few days, Nancy Crump spent hours cooking beans on a pop-corn popper, while Matilda Mann, the foggy thing that she is, spent hours wondering if her glasses were dirty or whether the lights were out. The hurricane meant half a day holiday, but it was gloomy homecoming, and Margie Estes, Betsy Purcell, and Faye Arnold had to wait until the next week to sponsor.

The set gets ready

We got another chance to get the "inside dope" on our favorite college when the month of December appeared on our calendars, and Jane Wayburn, Mary Lou Macon, Bill Barksdale, Nancy Tunnell, Anne Denmark, Cynthia Wing, Peggy Ridout, and Freddy Moreadith, with others, made the rounds of all their college choices. This occasion brought out the college spirit in our class, and for weeks after, the age old rivalry between the "Wolfpack" fans and the "Tar Heel" supporters held the topic of conservation at lunch.

On December 17, Rita Bennett, Bobby Hibbard, Page Bernstein, Wilson Bowers and more donned their bermudas and blouses or levis and "T" shirts, and rushed about the gym with paint brushes and hammers, decorating for the "Snow Ball" which many of the seniors had a hand in this year.

A few days after this successful dance had been held, the wonderful Christmas vacation began, and we all started sending our letters to Santa. With teas and dances to occupy our time, Christmas Eve rolled around before we knew it, and everyone added the last ornaments to his tree. Wilson Bowers got his usual four or five cashmere sweaters, Sharon Ridgeway, her luggage, "Animal" Brewer, an additional set of muscles, "Undertaker" Allen, a new embalmer for the funeral home, "Okeeneeche" Cell, a new Boy Scout "T" shirt, and Bill Merriman, a new supply of snow!

and some other girls invited all their friends to dance and help greet 1955. As the clock struck 12:00, confetti and kisses began to fly and everyone turned thoughts to a wonderful new year. The turn of the year made us realize that this was really our year; it belonged to the Class of '55.

We had barely gotten adjusted to eight hours of work again, when exams hit us in the face, and for the first time that year, we truly used our textbooks. When the grades were announced, we found that our graduating class of 242 had dwindled a bit, but most of us came through by the skin of our teeth. By this time, Mother Nature decided to smile on us by sending us a small blizzard! We woke up at the usual time one Wednesday morning, found our front yards knee deep in snow, and quickly switched on our radios to see if this would be a white holiday. When the good news had been announced, we tumbled back into bed, caught a few more winks, and then pulled our sleds out of our basements and hurried out to the Country Club for a good ole fashioned sleigh ride. Bob King, Morris Jones, Bobby Cromley, Sharon Ridgeway, Margie Linzey, and David Stephenson were some of those who could be seen flying over "the hump" on the golf course and then trudgin' back up the hill with their sleds behind them. Hal Miller had a little mishap with his sled and was afraid he was gonna limp forever, but by time school resumed studies, he along with the other members of our class, was fit as a fiddle! !

In February, our class began preparations for the Queen of Hearts program because this year we were in charge of this beautiful spectacle. Jimmy Edwards and Barry Collins spent the afternoon on ladders in the gym, and Jerry Holleman, Eddie Maynard, Gene McCracken, Sally Ruark, and Martha Teal were among those who rolled crepe paper for the last time and cut out hearts for the queen's and attendants' thrones. We were a bit misty eyed when our attendants, Rita Burke, Jean Leach, and Nancy Browning drifted down the aisle to meet their escorts Bob Wynne, "Wheatie" Jeffries, and Gus Reavis. And we were proudest of all when the trumpets announced Landrum Manning, our maid-of-honor, and Faye Arnold, Queen of our Hearts for 1955. Also in the month of Februray came the Student-Faculty game and "Hook" Lucas, Base Blackwell, Bill Merriman and other fellas in our class fell prey to the old faculty team in a humiliating loss. The girls, as usual proved their superiority over the women faculty and Nancy Mumford and Betty Lou Johnson with the help of other gals held the older women to one point! Boy, did we girls gloat!

The first of March saw the end of the basketball season and the loss of the State Championship for the first time in three years. Lil' "Billy" Hitchcock, big DeBerry, and Semi gave it all they had, but this year it just didn't seem to be enough. The "Caps" finished first in the Eastern Conference though, and this feat satisfied us.

When the time came to elect superlatives, we found it very hard to pick from our talented and wonderful class, ten boys and girls who were outstanding in the five fields, but we cast our ballots with great thought, realizing that this was the last election which some of the seniors would be running for a position. Those elected as our superlatives for 1955 were: Mr. and Miss Needham Broughton, Jerry Jones and Mary Lynn Moody; Beau and Belle, Bobby Shoffner and Betsy Purcell; Wit, Bettie Sue Caviness and "Willie" Swain; Sports, Rita Bowden and Fred DeBerry; and Versatility, Lota Brian and Colon Shaw Mintz, better known to all as Semi. The two seniors with the highest average for our four years in high school were Margaret Beattie and Lawrence Lohr, and they automatically became Scholarship superlatives.

This month also was the time for the senior play, and donning grease paint and costumes, the future thespians in our class played their parts like real troupers. Jane Low, Jimmy Thompson, Jimmie Wall, Frances Johnson, Margie Park, and Neil Hudson made up part of the cast for "January Thaw," and we thought that they deserved Oscars—everyone of them.

For months, we had been preparing for a big 25th anniversary celebration and in the last week in March, our class along with every other class in school combined their talents to present a pageant, "The Silver Years," which is probably one of the most outstanding memories we will have of our high school days. For us seniors, the pageant held a touch of sadness, and boys and girls alike had trouble swallowing when the audience stood to sing the Alma Mater. It's impossible to name all the seniors who had a hand in this successful undertaking. Some of them were Nancy Jones, Patty Jo Jones, Carolyn Mallard, Gretchen Barnette, Jimmy Davis and Sammy Frazier.

In the next few weeks, the girls were searching frantically about town for Easter bonnets while the boys were raiding the florists in search of flowers for their favorite lassies. When Peter Rabbit came hopping down the bunny trail, our class was ready for him with their Easter finery on, and the Easter Parade continued from Wednesday afternoon until the following Tuesday when we again grabbed our John J. Gilmartin books and hurried off to school. We had just gotten back to school when the Hi-Y presented its annual Spring Follies and Jerry Holleman, Robert Sink, Bob Edwards, Bob Alphin, "Willie" Swain, Bill Barksdale, and "Slob" Shoffner took part in this delightful show.

When the time came for us to meet in the auditorium to choose the persons or person whom we would dedicate the annual to; we decided that Mr. Maltbie and Mr. Smith, our class adviser, were the ones who played the largest part in the success of our class. For their guidance and their trust in us, we dedicated the annual to these two men.

The night Dave Brown's orchestra struck up the last tune, we again got that funny feeling in the pits of our stomachs. The Jr.-Sr. was here and this year the dance was for us. We cast an admiring glance at the "southern plantation," complete with wysteria gardens, and a large mansion and suddenly we were glad that we were from the Southland and went to Needham Broughton High School. The parties and beach trips began and for this weekend, we romped all over Wrightsville Beach, forgetting the studies which the teachers had piled on us.

"Only 23 more school days . . . 22 . . . 21. . . ." May had come and now graduation was in sight. We were really "hitting the books" by now in a last attempt to soak in some knowledge of Chemistry formulas, Algebraic equations, and those darn Gilmartin words. We were beginning to tire of school, and every morning we were yanked unwillingly from our beds to begin another day of work. Then before we could catch our breath, exams came and went, and our very own week began. For some reason, those who had been counting the days until the end of school were wishing that the hours were longer now. We had almost completed five years . . . 180 weeks . . . 900 days of life at Broughton. We were ready to become alumni rather than students of this high school.

How does our class feel as we realize that our high school work and fun is coming to a close? Anyone who has never been a senior cannot possibly know. There is an indescribable closeness between the members of our graduating class as it has been with classes in the past. Broughton has been our life for five years, and now we realize that this can never be again. The sunbaths and gab sessions at lunch, the wild flowers we had to collect, the plays, the big school dances, parties, and studies, the New York trips, the vacations . . . all of these are gone but not forgotten, never forgotten. Every member of our class in his way has contributed to these successful years, Bobby Kirkland and Bucky Branham, their courage; "Teal" and "Wheatie" their merry laughter; Jimmy Kirkland his skill with a camera; Carolyn Harris, Nicky Stamey, and Rita Bennett, and more, their artistic ability; Martha Dean, Burton Horwitz, and others, their acting ability, Joanne Tripp, Gerrie Preston, Meredith Lentz, Margaret Paris, Sid Raper, and countless others, their writing ability; and on and on. We are leaving now; and when we go, a part of us will remain. We are ready to pay our last tribute to Needham B. Broughton High School and our friends and teachers here. We are reminded of the 242 boys and girls who were so scared back on Sept. 2, 1950. We did know what the future five years held for us—now we do. The past few years have been the most rewarding of our young lives, and we can only hope for as happy a future wherever we now may go. You, Broughton, have made and shaped us into what we are today. For you, we are grateful; to you, we say "thanks." We are your children, for you have helped us to grow. In you we have learned well, laughed often, and gained much. Our future success belongs to you.

Dear Stewart,

To some people it is hard to say what you feel. You are Stewart, the actor; Stewart, the artist; but most of all Stewart, a friend. You will long be remembered by the seniors for that special way you look at a person making him feel necessary. We all are proud of you now, and Broughton will be even more proud of you in the future. You are one of the people I admire and love most. God bless you, Stewart.

I'm so glad that you were the one that graded my speech -- it means a great deal to me that you're to do it. Merci beaucoup for being such a great help for the Queen of Hearts program. I couldn't have done without you!! Best of luck to you at Duke next year. I hope I don't lose touch with you. -- Duke knows a girl is getting a fine fellow. Please don't ever forget me. Remember doubling with Dee Dee Wee & Nicki, Harold & Katherine, the notes we wrote each other practically everyday (I still have them) the letters you wrote me when I was in Texas & putting our names in "Dreamtime" because it was so thrilling to us then! Oh, we were so young! Congratulations on winning your scholarship - I know of no one who deserved it more - best of all the luck in the world - I don't have to wish you success for you succeed in anything you do - Remember me? - Love

Stewart,

The years that we've had at Broughton have really been great ones. Now that we've finished I look back over some wonderful times together. I'll never forget our English classes that we always seemed to get before. I hope your college days that all the kidding we've done was all in fun. You are a great guy and I wish you success in the future. I honestly feel that my friendship with you has added to my life here at Broughton. You always seemed to be willing to listen to my silly jokes & remarks. It's this kind of others that adds so much to your personality. Don't forget our friendship. May God bless you always.

Dear "Stewart,"

I can't imagine how Broughton would have been without you. You did make everything better. I don't believe that I can ever remember a day when you weren't always smiling. I guess that's what the main purpose for your being in this ole world — making others happy.

You can't imagin how wonderful all the good times that we had with you have been. I couldn't begin to tell you here - but I do want you to know that I couldn't have had such a good time in New York, at the Jr.-Sr. or at the Snow Ball if I'd been with anyone else.

Stewart, I know that your future will bring you bigger + better opportunities than the past and you deserve every good break and blessing that comes your way. Best of luck next year at Duke Stewart and may all of God's richest blessings be yours for the asking. I think they keep tabs of you and will never forget you.

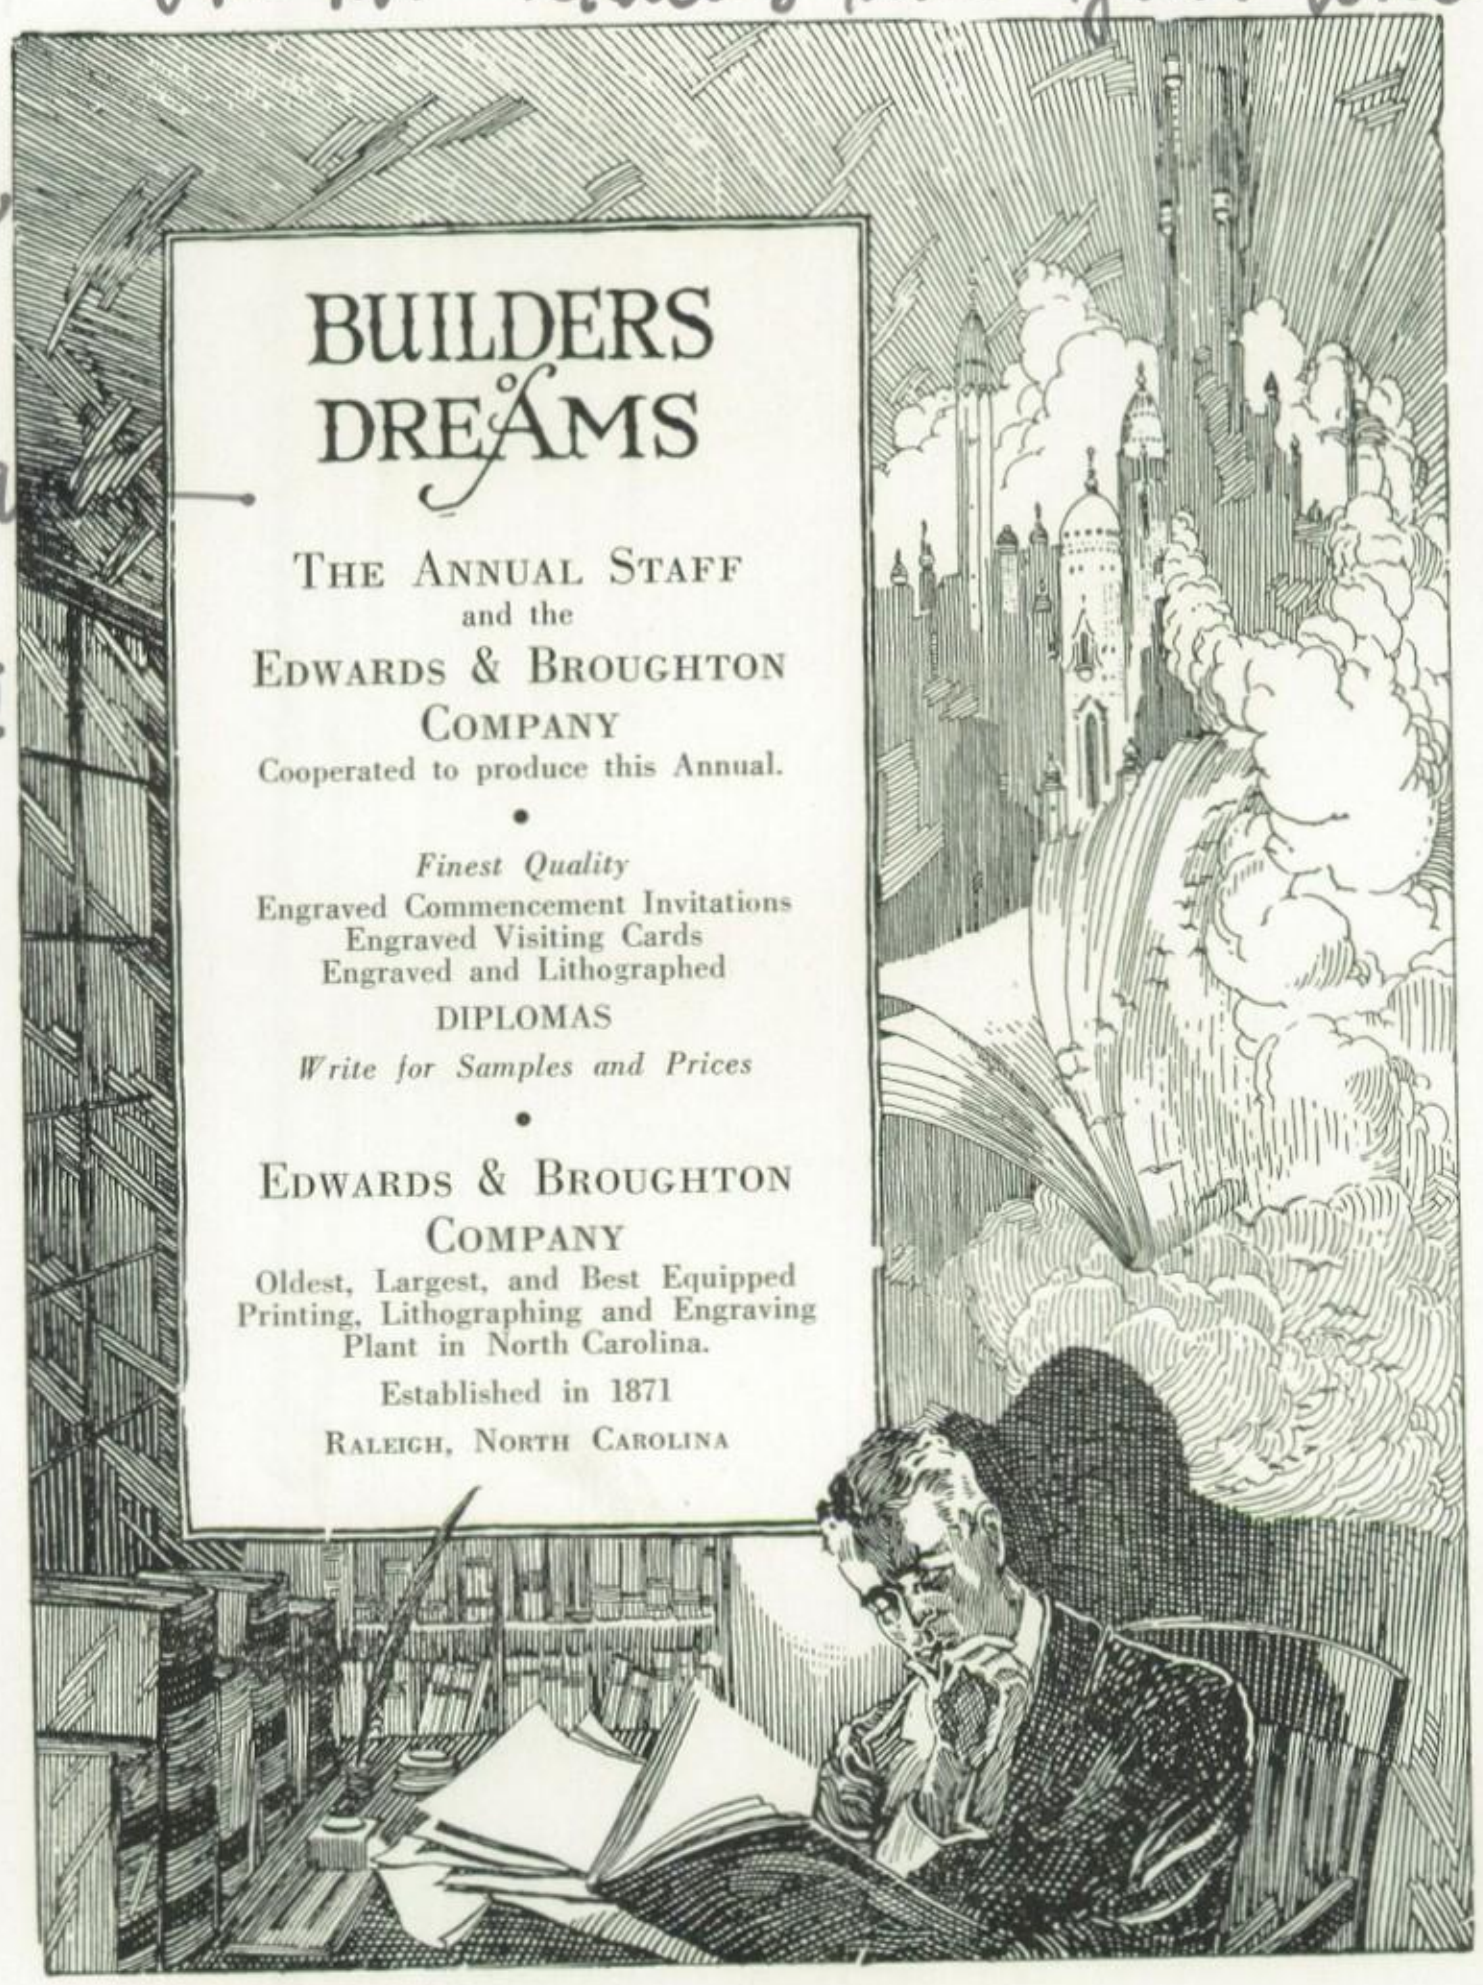
Stewart.

I never did quite get to know you - or your gondola - I doubt that I will ever regret anything more. I thought I was madly in love with you - probably most everyone has - I'm not exactly sure just what I should wish for you - what you really want but whatever it may be - that's what I'll wish for - a thousand times and more.

God bless you -

Rita

Ben.



Dearest, dearest Stewart buddy,

Will I forget you ever?! Ever, ever? Heavens! I love you as good as anybody because I have as many memories of you as of anybody. Remember when you played the hunter in Snow white? Remember my prompting you in fifty 'leven plays + then our being in "Indiana" together? Don't never lose your wonderful personality. I will always remember dancing with you and posing while you drew me. Little things, Stewart, that make school years fun. I wouldn't take anything in the world for knowing you, and I couldn't forget you if I tried.

SINCERELY,

Starnes

Dear Stewart,

I hardly know where to begin. I'll never forget my years at Broughton, and just knowing you has helped make them the most wonderful years of my life. There are so many things to remember, and you are part of each one. Our art classes and those field trips. I hope that some of your intelligence has rubbed off on me in these classes. Then there was the beach trip, and you had to forget your sketching pad, and you'll probably never find me sitting on a "jetty" again. Last but not least is working on the decorations for the Junior-Senior — painting our little ~~red~~ red, those blue magnolia leaves, and stringing up crepe paper. It was all so absolutely heavenly. I just keep remembering things — how about our trips to Durham and Chapel Hill. I'll never forget these and all the other happy moments.

I hope, that because we're graduating, it doesn't mean we won't see each other again. I know it won't be the same as when we were in high school, but maybe I'll see you once in a while.

You've probably heard this so many times already, but I mean it when I say I wish you all the good things in life, for I know you deserve it.

Please don't forget me, because I won't ever forget you. May God bless you always.

all my love,
Betty

Dear Stewart,

Sometimes you can put someone on a pedastal so high that it would seem almost sacriligous to say "I love you." Maybe it's more nearly adoration or worship, I don't know. But - thanks, Stewart. Thank you for having endured being a silly childs - idol - for 3 years - Thank you for just being you.

You're the most wonderful person I've ever in my whole, entire life known, Stewart. Please, please don't change when you become famous.

I'll always remember you. I guess, though later with a different emotion, I suppose.

May God Bless you Darling, Wherever you go, whatever you do, as long as You live, and after.

With all Sincerity,

Carrie Jackson
